

His hour had not yet come.....

Two times John records that the Jews wanted to kill Jesus but could not do so, because his hour had not yet come.

This knowledge alone should give all of us tremendous encouragement. No weapon, no power of hell, no one's loose tongue shall destroy or harm you if God doesn't allow it. He sits on the throne of not only the universe but our lives and determines our destiny a day at a time. The times and seasons, the moments, even the seconds are in His hands!

We also should be encouraged knowing God has appointments and dates marked in the timeline of our lives on earth. When these days come God moves, just as he had predetermined to do. Nothing can stop it, no one can close the door on it, and no one's opinion matters. Jesus didn't get taken captive in the garden till the time designated by God.

Jesus' death also was the fulfillment of the Father's time line. As the perfect Lamb of God he had to offer himself on the Jewish day of Passover. This Jewish feast was celebrated for over a thousand with a clearly set month and day. We know the day in history when Jesus died, even the hour. It was all timed, scheduled, and carried out precisely as God determined. Your life, its' destiny, your times are just as critical to God. We all have a destiny to fulfill, and we are all on a timeline with God. It won't happen a minute too soon and it won't be a minute late.

"Wait on the Lord" is the command. It is the only appropriate response to a God who has it all under his hand and is going to do it his way. Rest assured the things God has promised you will get done, but His way and His time! We can release time to God knowing he does all things well. Time is his department; faith in waiting is our department!

God bless the church...
