

It's a Spirit!!

Like it or not you're in warfare! Your enemy is invisible but he is not magical, he is spiritual. Anything that wages war against your soul is spiritual in nature. Discouragement, worry, fear, anger, hate, etc. these all are spirit driven.

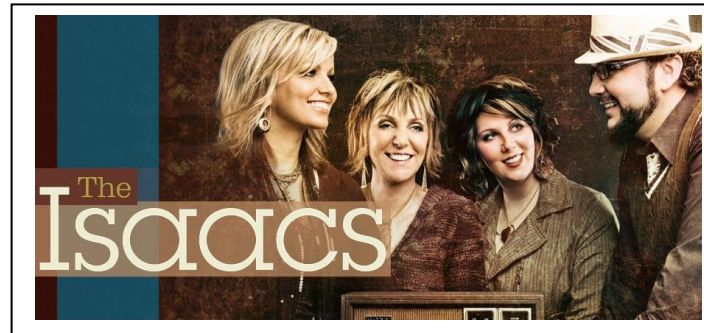

Satan loves it when we miss him, when we mistake seeing these spirits at work. He can work indefinitely in you and on you till you correctly see the battle as spiritual.

We fight fire with fire as it were by fighting spirit with spirit. When you pray, especially in the Holy Ghost you defeat these spirits. Peace, rest, joy, love are the result of the correct spirit working in your life.

Take authority: the greater one lives inside of you, when you see and feel these spirits at work, bind and cast out, cast down every thought. Say "I take authority over you "discouragement" I command you to leave my mind now." Then fill your mouth with praises to God. How can the devil handle that? "Resist the devil and he will flee" is still the word of God! Don't give the enemy an "inch" Jesus didn't come so you could live a miserable life barely making it through, but an abundant life full of joy and peace! Take it back, it's your life!
