

Using Satan's attacks as a gauge

It may sound strange to some, but Satan's opposition to you is good for you, even necessary. Without his resistance, spiritual muscle would not be built. We all pray better, try harder and draw closer to God during trials. The strength that we have to overcome generates from Lucifer himself through his opposition.

Secondly, anything Satan opposes in your life is a dead giveaway that you are going in the right direction. I have had this happen just recently with the two articles I write each week, one for this newsletter and the "pastor's pen" e-mail. Whenever I would think of what the Lord would have me write, I would feel an immediate block on my thoughts. I feel heaviness, and a spirit of "it's useless". I feel like my brain is scrambled and I can't get my thoughts to come together. This is nothing less than the enemy opposing the Work of the Lord.

Prayer unlocks the door for me. As soon as I begin to seek God the cloud lifts and I clearly hear the voice of direction from the Holy Spirit. Anything in your life that Satan oppresses you with is the true gauge of its effectiveness for God. Satan doesn't waste time on fluff. So be encouraged, weigh out Satan's attacks in this way and use it for your own advantage for faith!

God bless the church
