

worry-the faith eater!

Nothing exposes our hearts more than our willingness to “worry.” Worry is faith in reverse. Worry comes quite naturally, you don’t have to practice to have it. But it alone is one of the greatest destroyers of our relationship to God.

Worry is you carrying your own problems. It is the mind mulling over wrongs and hurts constantly replaying what is wrong, with no closure. The only conclusion worry comes to is defeat!

Worry won’t let go. It is the refusal to “cast your cares upon Him for he cares for you.” It is in essence saying to God, “You can’t be trusted, this is too important to give to you”.

Worry then is sin. It is disobedience to the clear commands of the Lord. “Cast your burden on the Lord and He shall sustain you, He shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.”

Let go of what you’re holding onto worrying about. If you could change it you would have done it long ago. It is obvious your only option is to trust in the Lord by releasing it to Him!

Let go and let God! Enter into His joy in the midst of your trouble, and cast worry far away. Cheer up God is in control!
